FFA News: On Oct. 15-16th, 3 Lahainaluna FFA students attended the 2019 Hawaii Agriculture Conference held at the Hawaii Convention Center on Oahu. Kahealani Garcia, Taimane Cajudo, and Sabrina Holcom were the 3 students who represented the Lahainaluna FFA (formerly the Future Farmers of America- National Student Leadership Organization) Chapter at the conference, along with their FFA Advisor, Mr. Keith Ideoka.

The Agriculture Leadership Foundation of Hawaii and Hawaii's Agriculture Industry sponsored all of the travel and conference costs for our students and their advisors. 8 other schools with active FFA programs also participated in the conference.

Sabrina Holcom, 2019-2020 Hawaii State Reporter was one of 5 State FFA Officers who represented our next generation of Agriculture leaders at the conference. The students had an active role in the conference. They had to meet and work together to come up with their own goals for the future of Hawaii's Agriculture, food security, Ag workforce development, sustainability, and protecting Hawaii's environment. All of which were shared with the current leaders from our government and private sector in Hawaii's Agriculture industry. Some of our FFA students were even part of panel discussions or were presenters for their own sessions at the conference.

Our students were treated to an early evening Pa'ina and networking event with appetizers prepared by many of Hawaii's premier chefs on the last night of the conference. To our surprise, our own Uncle George Kahumoku from Kahakuloa was the featured musician that night. Being a former Art teacher at Lahainaluna, he called our 3 Lahainaluna FFA members up to the stage to sing the Lahainaluna's Alma Mater with him as he accompanied them with his guitar. The audience loved it and our students did a great job representing their school well.
